Investment Rationale and Objectives

Commentary

In March, net performance of the OCP Senior Credit Fund was 0.70% bringing year-to-date performance to 2.48%. Markets advanced in spite of continued tensions surrounding Russia and the Ukraine as well as concerns over China's growth rate. The S&P 500, CS Leveraged Loan and High Yield Indexes returned 0.84%, 0.37% and 0.27%, respectively.

The large majority of the Portfolio's positions contributed to the month's positive performance including the screening and security company, Altegrity Inc., which was a top performer. Altegrity's senior secured loan appreciated in March on increasing investor confidence that the company will reach a deal to refinance or extend the loan this spring ahead of a step-down in its secured leverage covenant.

There were no significant detractors from performance during the month and there continued to be no defaults in the Portfolio.
